City Council Limits Height Of TV Antennas

City council adopted an ordinance Wednesday night limiting the height of television antennae so that if they should be blown over, they would not fall on the neighbors' property or the public street. A permit must be obtained from the building inspector before an antenna is installed. Ordinance is published on the legal page of this issue of The Pine Cone. Passed as an emergency measure, because the season of high winds is imminent, the ordinance became effective immediately.

City Clerk Peter Mawdsley reported that six stalls are now rented in the city parking lot and another spoken for if the council would consent to allow the renter to put up an advertising sign saying the stall was furnished the public through the courtesy of the business house of the renter. Council debated at length and then decided to think it over before they entered into the billboard business.

They were miffed at the planning commission for interpreting the zoning ordinance so that Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. McDonald can establish a laundromat on Mission Street in Zone C-1, and decided to forestall any further encroachments in the zone reserved for "selling and distribution of goods and services" by revising the zoning ordinance before somebody wanted to set up a laundromat on Ocean Avenue.

They held over for further

? We'd Like The Answer

Last week's question, Why haven't Bert Heron's doves laid any eggs, still remains unanswered, though Charles Bowman contributes the following theory:

DOVE INSPIRATION WANTED

Bert Heron's doves recently nested as though they meant to settle down to family life on the sleeping porch. But they have been sitting on the nest for four weeks without laying one egg. Evidently, unlike the barnyrad hen, doves need the inspiration of noble male bird presence. A pouting, tail-strutting gallant must lead Lady Dove's naturally affectionate disposition down the primrose paths of dalliance. The poetic writer of Solomon's Song knew the secret when he sang: "O my dove, that art in the clefts of the rock, in the secret places of the stairs, let me see thy countenance, let me hear thy voice; for sweet is thy voice and thy countenance is comely."

This poses this week's question, Could Bert's doves both be female?

We've been hearing a lot from the business association and the city council on the subject of not enough parking space and what to do about it, but we haven't heard a peep out of the innocent bystanders until this week when we cornered five citizens, and received a letter.

Our poll, representative though skimpy as to numbers, reveals that half approve Councilman Francis Whitaker's suggestion of removing all time limit parking; half say no; most of them had additional suggestions to offer, from an uprising of the artists against businessman rule, to more yellow zones for trucks and ten minute green zones in front of the bank. On one issue alone they were unanimous. Nobody wants parking meters for Carmel.

David Alberto, pianist and composer, whose residence in Carmel goes back to boardwalk days, said, "Of course I don't like time limit parking, and I don't want parking meters. They're just good for the business people. If I weren't so busy I'd get the artists and writers together and we'd start a revolution. We'd say to the business people, 'We've let you run the town for a while because you did it fairly well, but now it seems that everything is for business. It's time for us to take over.'"

Andy Martin, former city councilman and police commissioner told the Pine Cone he'd like to see time limit parking abolished but would not want the police force reduced. "Put them on patrol duty. There should be more patrol work done right now. There are too many accidents, and so far as I can see, there is very little patrolling of the area south of Ocean Avenue and up on Carpenter Street. The intersections there should have more watching."

Corum Jackson: "I think we should maintain time-limit parking on the streets but without parking meters, and acquire off street parking space as we can find a way to do it. We should rent what we can, buy as soon as we can. If we acquire just one little something it's a start toward constructive action."

The Rusters have a tiger cat,
Its stripes are tan and black,
And when they go to River School,
Quite often so does "Mac".
So NOW HE'S LOST — please call 7-4659.

And two weeks ago Kippy Stuart's black bomber Joe Louis disappeared.

Has somebody been celebrating National Cat Week by making a collection of other people's pets? Or are the cats starting a mass migration to other parts because Carmel is beginning to lose its village character?

The Carmel Planning Commission members believe that they should not sacrifice the interests of Carmel home owners and the beauty of the town to tourist convenience. This is so sound it should be carved in granite somewhere for future planning commissions and city councils to contemplate.

But it doesn't work if the planning commission gets confused as to what is for the benefit of whom. This is what seems to have happened when the commission turned over plans for a rest room at Scenic and Santa Lucia to the city council Wednesday night with a do not act recommendation. The planning commission's reasons: the rest room would be too expensive; it would be a police problem; and, "if you build a rest room, you are building for tourists."

Councilwoman Jerry Smith observed that if the planning commission members had ever taken twenty kids to the beach for a picnic they might have a different view of the rest room situation. She pointed out that the rest room at the foot of Ocean Avenue is a tourist convenience, since the Ocean Avenue part of the beach is the especial haunt of visitors, but the south end of the beach is the traditional picnic gathering place for Carmel residents.

Councilwoman Smith is quite right. The week school opened, the high school kids had an impromptu wiener roast at that location; the parent nursery school and the Church of the Wayfarer held big family picnics there this summer. For years it has been the custom of Carmel parents to get together in groups and take their kids, lunches and themselves to that sheltered spot for a day or an evening on the beach. In the twelve years we have been manning a typewriter for the Pine Cone we have never heard a tourist complain of the lack of a rest room in that area but every sum-

Floor Show, Dance For Adult Guests At Youth Center's Annual Open House

There's a big birthday party tomorrow night, and the whole town is invited.

It's the third anniversary party and open house of the Carmel Youth Center—the one time during the year when the building is thrown open to adults as well as teenagers. There'll be dancing, refreshments and entertainment, with the party running from 8:00 o'clock to midnight.

Beginning at 10:00 o'clock, there'll be a floor show featuring members of the Youth Center under the direction of Bonnie Giles. The entertainment will open with Chris Gray, "The English Okie and his Band", with Carol Goodrich on piano, John Mason on accordion, David Gray on bass, Ronnie Huffman on drums and Chris playing the steel guitar. Next will be Denny Johnson with a comic monologue entitled Proud New Father. Sidney Tice will do a specialty dance number, and Buzz Knight will wind up the show with a record pantomime called "Atchoo!"

An eight-piece orchestra for dancing has been donated through the Recording and Transcription Fund of the American Federation of Musicians, Monterey Local 616, this being the third year the union has provided the music for Youth Center parties.

Refreshments will be available at the Center's Snack Bar, which will be manned for the occasion by a crew of adults: Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Balazs, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ricketts and Mrs. Alice Seros.

The open house, plus the annual Christmas show staged by the Youth Center, is the members' way of expressing their thanks to the community.

Teague Here For Politics And Fun

Charles "Chuck" Teague is peninsula - vacationing, attending Republican Do's and allowing local political leaders to have another good look at him. They had an opportunity to size him up last spring when he addressed the Republican Women's Club.

"I am interested in becoming a candidate to congress from the 13th district but I have made no announcement as yet," he told the Pine Cone Wednesday, correcting the announcement made for him in the San Francisco Chronicle.

Tall, blonde, alert, the Ventura attorney, who makes his home in Ojai, is young enough looking to be a Young Republican, but boasts he's a grandfather, which makes him at home with the senior group.

He was very much in evidence at the weekend Young Republican convention at the Fair Grounds and will be present at the Monterey County Assembly meeting Tuesday night.

But he is not forgetting that he and his wife, Marjorie, his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Cox, who are staying at the Normandy Inn in Carmel, are on

Helen Wilson Seeks Carmel Pictures For Sunset Mag Feature

Helen Wilson, secretary of the Carmel Business Association was scurrying around this week on a picture hunt. Sunset Magazine, working up a feature for their December issue, Where Would You Like to Go for Christmas Week?, wants to know what Carmel does for Christmas.

Helen has pictures of the decorated stores, and an especially good one of Erica Franke's winning mural, and when last seen was asking everybody, "Did you take any pictures of the community Christmas tree last year?

60 PADRE GRIDDERS MAKE GUSTINE TREK TONIGHT

Carmel High School's varsity and junior-varsity football teams get their first full-game fire tonight when they journey to Gustine for a pair of tussles with the strong Gustine Indians. Gustine is the only team on the Carmel schedule that holds a win-loss superiority over the Padres. The Indian varsity has whipped the red and grey heavies twice while Carmel holds one win over Coach Bob Brian's valley lads. Employing a tricky split-T attack which features swift halfbacks, running passes, and a good left-handed passer, Gustine will furnish sturdy opposition for the untried Padres. Last year, Gustine shellacked the local preps, 19 to 7, and used their reserves for most of the second half. However, their really great fullback, Joe Silva, graduated with the class of '53 to take some of the sting from the Indian's classy attack. Gustine has three lettermen backs and five monogram winners in the line around which to build a grid machine this season.

With a hard scrimmage under their belts, a sharpened passing attack, and a defensive scrimmage against the split-T during the past week, the Carmel lads feel confident tonight's game should be a toss-up. Carmel enjoys a slight bulge in the weight department but gives away in the speed department to the swift Gustine halfbacks. Passing is about even with Howard Roloff and Joe Ferriera both endowed with better than average throwing ability. Ferriera is a left-handed tosser while Carmel's Roloff casts off from the starboard side. Carmel's offensive unit will be manned by Don Leidig and Jim O'Dell, ends; Dick Schetter and Francis Schutz, tackles; Denny Johnson and Dell Redding, guards; Al Knight, center; Don Rowe and Dick Ledbetter, halfbacks; Bob Lemmon, fullback, and Howard Roloff, quarterback. George Hunter, Bob Ameil, Bill Powell, Jim Kurtz, and Merle Pitman will move into the lineup as part of the defensive unit.

Gustine's Papoose squad will be seeking revenge for a 6-0 loss hung on them by the little Padres last season when the two JV teams mix in a 6:30 prelim. Coach Chuck Dawson's Padecitos have the poise that comes with experience and should surprise a few opponents this season. Most of the JV's played a full schedule last year and are anxious to return some of the lumps garnered while compiling a three won-five lost record during the '52 season. A smooth-working backfield unit of West Whittaker, Kyrk Reid, Randy Houghtelling, and Mike Mosolf has shown an aptitude for moving the ball while up front. Dick Jennings, Bob Martin, Gene Gawain, John Thompson, Mike Stanton, Bob Michela, and George Wightman have enough blocking savvy to open the running lanes. Clyde Klaumann, 155 pound freshman end, is one of the finest football prospects to hit the Padre campus in several years and will play lots of offense and defense for the Padrecitos. Plenty of good backs grace the JV roster in the persons of Bill McCormack, Craig Chapman, Bob Alvarez, Bob Wise, Dick Ogden, Jim Konrad, Chuck Dawson, and Kent Walker. A defensive line unit of Klaumann, Pat Erwin, Ron Huffman, Brayton Witherell, Lyle Shelton, George Maier, and Jon Menand provides both weight and experience to stop the Gustine rushes.

Tonight's JV fracas gets underway at 6:30 with the varsity game set for 8 o'clock.

CARMEL TRIO TO COMPETE IN SPORTS CAR GYMKHANA

Hundreds of sports car enthusiasts from all over the state arrive on the Peninsula this weekend for the first California Sports Car Gymkhana, which will take place Sunday on the south parade grounds at Fort Ord.

Over 20 California sports car clubs have entered three-man teams in the championship competition, which is sponsored by the Pebble Beach Sports Car Club. Representing the local club will be three Carmelites: Art Bennett, who will pilot either a Porsche coupe or an MG; Walter Kreisler, in an MG; and Mrs. Virginia Shaw, MG.

Saturday night the Pebble Beach club will host visiting contestants at a steak barbecue in the Hunt Club of the Monterey County Fairgrounds at 7:30.

Sunday's gymkhana, which begins at 9:00 o'clock, will offer trophies for best individual driver as well as a perpetual trophy to the winning team. The course was set up by chief marshal Al Wintringham, assisted by other members of the local club.

CARMEL PISTOL CLUB TOURNAMENT SUNDAY

The Carmel Pistol Club will sponsor a National Rifle Association-approved pistol tournament this Sunday at the club range, located behind the Standard Station on Ocean and San Carlos.

All pistol enthusiasts over 18 years of age are invited to compete for 54 medals and a trophy.

The range will open at 8:00 o'clock in the morning for practice shooting and competitive firing will start at 9:00 o'clock and continue until 6:00 o'clock. There will be six matches, including four 22 calibre and one center fire match. The registration fee will be $1.00, plus an entry fee of 50c per match. Ladies are especially invited to compete.

Entries from Central California have already been received, and the tournament is nationally recognized by gun experts.

CARMEL WINS IN CCAL GRID JAMBOREE

Spurred on by 4000 eager grid fans, Carmel High's varsity team put together a touchdown and a safety to outscore San Lorenzo, 8 to 0, in the opening quarter of the CCAL Jamboree. The Padres hit pay dirt the second time they came in possession of the ball, sending Don Rowe scampering 45 yards on a running pass from Tom Brosnan. The swivel-hipped Rowe threaded his way through the Cougar secondary, helped along by resounding blocks on the part of Don Leidig, Ted Ledbetter, and Dell Redding. San Lorenzo gave up a safety in the final minutes of the quarter as Ted Ledbetter nailed the Cougar left halfback behind the goal line. Carmel's line outcharged the San Lorenzo forwards throughout the abbreviated game, holding the mountain boys to a minus eight yards in rushing the ball. Fine offensive blocking by Denny Johnson, Al Knight, Francis Schutz, and Dell Redding opened good running lanes for the Padre backs. Howard Roloff, Carmel quarterback, drew raves from sportswriters and coaches by his deft ball-handling and poised passing. This strong-armed senior looks to be the top quarterback in the B league this year and is equal to any passing back in the CCAL.

A big rugged Pacific Grove team pushed over another touchdown for the East after taking over on the Gonzales 5-yard line where Carmel had left the ball. The Breakers pushed the smaller Spartans around for plenty of yardage but couldn't reach touchdown land after their first thrust.

Hollister High School, the scourge of the B division, put the West in front as the Haybaler backs romped for three touchdowns through a porous Gilroy defense. A wealth of real fast backs and a fast-charging line give Hollister all the necessary ingredients for another winner in the B league. Gilroy was small and not too well organized but showed the best back in the Jamboree in fullback Dick Kretz. This lad is definitely big college material and will give Gilroy opponents plenty of uneasy moments before this season is over.

Watsonville, the class of the A league, put the East in front, 20 to 18, as the Wildcat passing attack baffled the Santa Cruz Cardinals. It will take a mighty good high school team to whip Coach Emmett Geiser's Watsonville gang this year.

Forest Theatre Workshop Casting For Stein Play

Tryouts for Doctor Faustus Lights the Lights, a play in six scenes by Gertrude Stein, will be held in the Forest Theater Guild's Workshop Theater at the Forest Theater next Wednesday night at 8:15 o'clock.

In this production, Dr. Faustus will be narrated by five readers, and on stage the play will be enacted in pantomime by a cast of eight, including three men, three women, one child and somebody to play a dog.

This will be the second production in the Workshop Theater which is devoted to experimental theater. Dr. Faustus . . . has never before been attempted outside of New York, although it is included in many best plays anthologies.

Dolph Tewes, who will direct this production, invites all who are interested in participating in any way to attend the readings next Wednesday night.

Mayor To Address Carmel Unincorp.

The regular quarterly meeting of Carmel Unincorporated will be held Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in the Carmel High School cafeteria, it was announced this week by the organization's secretary, Helen Lambert.

Chief attraction of the meeting will be a talk by Mayor Horace Lyon, who will discuss the various problems of incorporation. According to Miss Lambert, this will be the first time that the city of Carmel has officially evinced particular interest in the incorporation of the surrounding areas with the city proper.

New Class Offered In Home Repairs

A new class, Home Mechanics, is offered in the Carmel Adult School under the direction of Ernest Calley. It will include instruction on repairing furniture, faucets, electric cords, and how to make other minor household repairs. The class will be held on Friday evenings at 7:00 o'clock in Room 19 at Sunset School.

Classes in which additional enrollment is needed are English for New Americans, Sewing, Woodworking, Typing, Pottery and Conversational Spanish.

HI CHATTER

By Susan Nutter

At last the first edition of the Padre newspaper was distributed today. Only one member of the journalism class is a veteran, so there was a slight delay in publication. This quarter's editors are Editor-in-chief Judy Oliver, Assistant Editor Sydney Tice, News Editor Susan Nutter, Feature Editor Bonny Lynn Redhead, Sports Editor Craig Chapman, Society Editor Lucy Elstob, Art Editor Luan Meatheringham, Typists Pat Ricketts and Carole Goodrich, Exchange Editor Helen Dufur, and Typesetter Denice Westcott. The reporters are Xenia Klotz, Norman Longaker, and Sandra Kohner.

The paper will be six pages and full of interesting news items, etc. After the routine is established the periodical will be out every two weeks.

Today Pat Finley and Bruce Bixler briefed the girls and boys respectively on their trip to Europe, and how the people live, how they are different, what their customs are, and answered questions.

The editors for the year-book were chosen by Mr. Donald Craig and Pat Finley, the editor in chief. They are Alicia Bauer, art editor; Pat Ricketts, photography editor; Sarah McCloud, subscription editor; Lynn McMath, advertising editor; Lyle Shelton, sports editor; and Jeanne Fratessa and Melinda Scheffer, literary co-editors.

Pat Finley and Alicia Bauer have been working on the dummy for the book for the last two weeks. The book was overhauled and there will be a whole new style to it.

UNITARIAN FELLOWSHIP

"The Year of the Fanatics," will be the subject on which Rev. F. Danford Lion of Palo Alto, Unitarian pastor, speaks at a meeting of the Unitarian Fellowship Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the Girl Scout House here.

Rev. Lion, president of the Pacific Coast Unitarian Minister's Association, is the first full-time minister of Palo Alto's Unitarian Church.

Spiegler Resigns High School Post; Will Assist At Sur

Arthur Spiegler, new social studies and general science teacher at Carmel High School, resigned this week but will remain on the peninsula to assist James Blee and Mrs. Gordon Reid at the sixth grades' outdoor education camp at Big Sur for two weeks starting October 5.

Mrs. Winifred Baum, substitute teacher, is taking his high school classes until a replacement can be found for him.

The outdoor education camp will be at the old scout camp at the Sur and about 83 students will attend in two groups. The three sixth grades will be divided so that half the students will attend one week, the rest, the second.

Armor Wants Yellow Zones; But Nobody Wants Parking Meters

rated? Hal Armor, retired navy commander, insurance agent, who has his home in Carmel Woods, said he wasn't well enough informed on traffic problems to express a view on whether or not time limit parking should be abandoned, but he would welcome some place where he could park his car for two or three hours, since he frequenly finds that an hour is not long enough to attend to his business and errands in town.

"The idea of making parking areas on Junipero Street, north and south of Ocean is a good one," he said. "If I knew I could park my car there for two or three hours, I'd go there instead of circling around town looking for parking. I wouldn't mind walking the few extra blocks." He offered another suggestion. "I don't think there are enough yellow zones. In the morning the trucks park double and you can hardly get through. More yellow zones would take care of the trucks, and in the afternoon they come in mighty handy as ten minute zones when a person has a quick errand to do."

Katie Ruster (Mrs. John Ruster) expresses the point of view of the housewife and mother. She thinks abandoning time limit parking would not work. How would people with clothes to leave at the cleaners and groceries to pick up find parking, she wants to know. She thinks some of the difficulties would be solved if local housewives did their marketing before 10:00 o'clock in the morning. She would like to see ten minute green parking zones established at both banks, about four in front of each. "Ten minutes is long enough for most people to attend to their business in the bank."

And here's the letter:

Editor
Carmel Pine Cone

I read with interest your parking discussion in your September 18 issue of the Pine Cone. I accept your invitation to your readers to express their opinions on the vital subjects.

I am new in Carmel. I am delighted with its beauty, charm, uniqueness, attractiveness, which Carmel has maintained through the the cooperation of most of the people here. You've a treasure here worth keeping.

I have no use for street parking meters anywhere. I like adequate off-street parking lots, both free and pay ones, especially for long time parking, and free parking on the streets.

But good workers don't like to lose their jobs either. In the case of reducing the police force, I think they should be told where they can obtain good new jobs. Our patrolmen would have adequate preparation for a good position in a good location.

I like the idea of new, small shopping areas, built with parking space, attractively landscaped, adequate shops, as needed, much better than large congested shopping centers. I've been in a beauty of one in North Sacramento.

Carmel is lovely and California can be made so, all of it. And from what I have seen of Carmel, you know how to work out and put in use desirable plans. How I wish that San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Vallejo, Los Angeles and Grass Valley would take and use a few lessons in civic pride from Carmel or any ugly spot needed to be made attractive.

Sincerely,
Illa Friend Ellis

Driver Training Classes Start At Carmel High School

Carmel High School has started another year of automobile driver training classes with the opening of the Fall term. Behind-the-wheel instruction is being given with a new Studebaker sedan equipped with AAA dual brake and clutch controls.

This "classroom on wheels" is being loaned to the high school again this year by the Clyde N. Young Studebaker Agency of Monterey through Clyde N. Young. Stewart Mitchell, school superintendent, announces that Alan F. Aldwell continues as instructor for the course.

J. E. Zimmerman, district manager for the California State Automobile Association, handled arrangements for assignment of the driver training automobile to the school.

The CSAA also actively assists in the classroom phase of the driver education and training course. Copies of the AAA textbook, Sportsmanlike Driving, are made available at cost. Other material for instruction in traffic laws, accident prevention and highway courtesy is provided by the CSAA without cost to the school.

City Council Limits TV Antenna Height thought the planning commission's recommendation that they forget about building a rest room at the south end of the beach (see editorial column).

Deciding to make another try at the parking problem the council set Monday afternoon, 5:00 o'clock for a committee meeting to discuss what they wanted to do about it. Francis Whitaker thought that the council should take the initiative in getting a petition passed to set up a parking district which would take in the whole city but divide the assessment 30-70 between residence and business property and raise $180,000 for parking lots. The mayor thought there were other ways of approach.

They accepted Raymond Dawson's resignation from the police force. He has been with the department for three months and stated that he felt he was not suited for the work.

Don Blanding To Speak Before Woman's Club

Don Blanding, who once paused in his vagabonding to make his home in Carmel, will return for a visit next month. On Friday evening, October 2, the Carmel Woman's Club will present the artist and poet in a program which will include readings from his own works and tales of some of his more recent travels.

It is said that a certain dour citizen once offered Blanding a million dollars for his "secrets of laughter". But the poet couldn't collect at the time: he had the laughter, but didn't know the formula. He claims his greatest secret of laughter is to make high adventure out of every hour, every day. This philosophy is reflected in his most popular books, Vagabond's House and The Rest of the Road, and in his newest opus, Joy is an Inside Job.

Ten Nights In A Barroom At First Theatre Is A Big Success

BY KIPPY STUART

It was with delight that I witnessed the opening performance of Ten Nights in a Barroom at California's First Theater. The First Theater has come into its own by returning to the original old melodrama so popular in California's early years. The decor plus the atmosphere and tradition of the First Theater calls for melodrama and Ten Nights in a Barroom is an excellent selection.

The play moves swiftly with scene after scene of outstanding sets executed by Erika Franke, to my way of thinking, the very best that Erika has ever done. The barroom back drop is in intricate designs as soft as mosaic and the colors so blended that one almost looks at exquisite tapestry.

Not much more can be said for Rhea Diveley and her directing ability, save that once again Rhea has covered herself with glory in the execution of this traditional melodrama. The casting is excellent and the timing of the play could not be improved upon.

The reviewer of such an historic play has difficulty in selecting focal points to reveal. Each actor and actress should have his or her place in the sun, yet what is a review to accomplish? One thing; to report to the public whether or not advice is given to view the performance. My personal thought is that to miss Ten Nights in a Barroom, is to neglect one's education. Aside from the educational point, the audience may be prepared for an evening of full entertainment, with never a moment to regret.

There is one tiny tot playing the part of the Drunkard's daughter, little Thyra Maitre. She sings the old song, "Father, Oh Father Come Home Tonight . . ." with a pull at the heart strings that held the audience quiet, for the scene is so moving that even applause is out of order. Jack Kidwell is a natural in the dignified Mr. Romaine, who plays the part of Public Conscience in condemning alcohol. No better choice could have been made for the part. Madeleine Hicks is at the old stand, giving of her stage ability in the part of Mrs. Slade, the Innkeeper's wife. Madeleine reverses herself as far as straight drama goes in the Ohio, where she sends the audiences into stitches with her partner Martha Bickel in comic songs. Martha Bickel had one of the hardest roles in the play. It is difficult to play the part of a foolish old maid which Martha does, as coy as you please.

Of course, Bobs Watson is the whole show. That young man has given to this peninsula many nights of good theater, and in the part of the Drunkard he once again covers himself with glory. Bobs also doubles as Mcee in the Olio which he does with eclat and verve.

Mrs. Dudley Nix can be proud of her two dancers Pamela Beales and Gail Maitre, who executed a genuine toe-dance ballet to the delight of the audience. Paul Vornholt, as a Yankee tippler, made much of the humor of the play and William Kaye, as the Innkeeper's son, did a nice stint of reverting to a genuine drunk from a nice, polite boy. Eileen McDermott served as a drab, imposed-upon wife of the Drunkard. She really was drab, but when she dashes out in the Olio one realizes that Eileen is a strikingly comely woman.

Leland Lovett played the part of the villain and was good looking enough and suave enough to fill the part from A to Z. Ed Stim was the traditional Squire's son, arrogant and opinionated. Bud Houghton was cast as Landlord of the "terrible drinking place", and Bob even looked the part, which is a hard thing to say of such a nice young man.

There wouldn't be any successful plays without costuming, and in Ten Nights in a Barroom, Rhoda Johnson brings to life the neatest set of costumes I've ever seen. "Crisp" is the only adjective I can derive to describe the lovely ginghams, tucked and frilled for the period. The men's costumes were in excellent period choice, with the high choker collars and the long-tailed coats.

Monterey Peninsula is fortunate to have so able and colorful a place for evening entertainments as California's First Theater, and where would we all be without the kindly and expert direction of Denny-Watrous Management? I for one am going to spend another evening at the First Theater, and "you'll be sorr-ee" if you don't go, too.

Lester J. Neill

Word was received this week of the death of Lester J. Neill, a frequent visitor to Carmel and father of Clayton B. Neill. The elder Mr. Neill passed away Tuesday night in a hospital in Turlock, not far from his home in Denair where for 50 years he has engaged in ranching and farming.

Mr. Neill was born March 20, 1870, in Butlerville, Indiana, and was graduated from Earlham College in Richmond, Indiana. His wife preceded him in death four years ago.

In addition to his son, Clayton Neill, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Jack Harmon and Mrs. Faust Lizama, both of Denair, and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Alan H. Brown

Services were held Monday for Alan H. Brown, who died Saturday evening at his home at Mountain View and Eighth. He and his wife, Effie W. Brown, had made their home here for the past ten years.

Mr. Brown was born July 29, 1887, in Jamestown, New York. He was established for some years in the east as a tailor and designer of women's wear, and here in Carmel was employed by a local clothier.

He is survived by his wife only.

Services were held in the Dorney and Farlinger Funeral Home, with inurnment at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium.

Letter From Norway

By ASTRID SISSON

FROM KRISTIANSAND TO MANDAL
The Picture-book Town

The road between Kristiansand and Mandal, Norway's most southern town, runs through a valley broader than most in these parts, and with a background of wood-covered hills rather than mountains. These are broken every now and then, and through the gaps can be seen long fertile valleys in the back-country. The rowan-berries are turning a vivid red now, an equally charming accent to the dark green of the fir trees, and the lighter green of the silver birches which also help clothe the hills.

The valley have many lakes, most with no outlets, so no timber floats on them as on the lakes farther east. Each lake has a wide border of waterlilies with an unusually beautiful leaf, crimped around the edges. One of the larger lakes has, beside this edge of waterlilies, a little circle of them in the center, and the warm sun has opened them in all their glory.

Behind this lake is a plot of grass as green as a well-kept lawn, and young lambs with their mothers, browse on it. A waterfall can be glimpsed through the trees, alternately sun-dappled and shaded. Soon an undefineable noise is heard, which increases to a roar as we pass above a large waterfall tumbling out of the cliffs beneath the road.

The crops raised along this road are mostly root vegetables and cabbages. Newspapers and radio are urging people to eat cabbage, lots of cabbage, as the crop is enormous, and this is the summer cabbage which can not be stored. Winter cabbage keeps htrough the winter, but ripens later.

We soon enter a narrow crooked street with a sheer cliff rising on the right, and small white houses tumbled together on the left. This is the entrance to Mandal. The town is built on both sides of Mandal River, the main part lying on the other side. There is the main street, built along a narrow strip of flat land, while most of the little homes clamber up the hills, stopping at a sheer cliff which forms the town's background, and has a tiny building on top, looking for all the world like a little pill-box hat. To the right of town, where the country begins, lies a large, white church. Crossing the bridge, we turn into Store Elvegate (Big River-street), Mandal's main street.

Here let me explain that a smug, pronounced smoog in Norwegian, and sometimes called a smoi, is a thoroughfare so narrow that it cannot be called a street. It rambles around and in and out among houses, has a few steps now and then, should the hill be steep, and is full of surprises for those not used to these smug left over from olden times.

I have never seen a more narrow smug serve as a main street, than Store Elvegate in Mandal. Brussels has streets so narrow that one can walk down the middle and touch the houses on both sides, and other cities have them too; but there they are out-of-the-way streets, while Store Elvegate is Mandal's main street. And it is not only narrow, but as crooked as a snake in agony. The houses are built any-which-way, further narrowing the street and creating hazardous, blind corners, which compel the person on foot to stop, look around the corner to see that nothing is coming before he can go on safely.

Down this hazardous street drove our large passenger bus, of a type now being used in Europe for long distance travel. How did it do it? I don't know. Astonished we saw people stand pressed against the walls while we passed, saw mothers shunt their children into stores. Another car met the bus, but never disputed the right-of-way. It simply backed up to where a slightly wider space had been created by an oddly placed house. When the bus passed, the people began to move again, and the car, which had backed to safety, appeared and moved slowly down the street. I was told that these buses drive through Store Elvegate about six every hour during the busiest time of day, and never have an accident.

It began to rain and two of us walked down Store Elvegate under one umbrella. Suddenly we heard a bus coming, and pressed up against the nearest wall, as did everyone else. The bus stopped behind us, and the driver stuck his head out and said pleasantly: "Close the umbrella. It takes up too much room." We did, and the bus went by. Later, when we walked along another part of this narrow street, a young woman in the party was wheeling her baby in a go-cart, when along came a delivery truck. The driver stopped and called, again in a pleasant voice: "Move over to the other side so I can pass. Will you?" On the other side was a jog, just big enough to make a safe stopping place for the go-cart. After that we learned to look out for ourselves.

By the end of the day I was completely fascinated by this little town out of the middle ages, and wanted to know it better. But rooms in the few hotels were engaged months in advance, and I had just about given up hope of finding a room, when I saw a politikonstabel. I stopped and told my plight to him. Before answering, he looked me over thoughtfully and said: "We have a spare-room at home. If the wife says it is all right, it is all right with me. How long do you want to stay?"

I told him a few days.
"It is small," he answered.
"That won't matter."
"All right. I'll walk up with you."

A little digression here to say that I stayed with the politikonstabel and his charming wife for eighteen days, and was made to feel an honored guest. More kindness and consideration I have never met with anywhere.

The politikonstabel's home is so old that until ten years ago all cooking was done in the fireplace in the kitchen, as no provision was made for a cook-stove when the house was built. Who built the house and its age are not known, but the old father of my host, who "is going on ninety" was born in it, and so was his son. Now the house has been modernized with up-to-date kitchen, with electric stove and ice box, bathroom, hot and cold water, and many other improvements to make it easy to live in and work in. But the old stairway remains as steep as a stepladder, with steps not five inches wide, I have measured them. I have tried to walk up, and, more difficult, to walk down those stairs in every way possible. Pigeontoed, heel to heel, toe to heel, but have not yet found a way that for certain will keep me from disaster, and my room is on the second floor!

Store Elvegate, now that I know it better, reminds me somewhat of Chinatown in San Francisco. It has one small store after another on both sides of its narrow, crooked street, each with its own smalls of cakes and bread baking, of fresh berries and vegetables, of spices and soaps, of woolens in moth balls, of meats and fresh and smoked fish. It is a street with more imagination and expression than should be expected of any street. Now, at the very height of the tourist season, many of the stores have signs saying: "VACATION CLOSING." One of the places closed is the public library, which makes it difficult but most delightful to gather this material from many different sources.

Another eccentricity is the numbering of the houses. On the block where I live, beginning with the first house, the corner across the street, the numbers run thus: 7- 10- 11- 11b- 13- 14. Crossing the street and going back along the other side, the numbers run: 16- 15- 12- 4b- 4.

High cliffs form Mandal's background. One of these was formerly called Torjusheima but is

SONG TO SEPTEMBER

None would infer by this the brilliant day
Embered and flaming with unfallen flowers,
That summer without word has slipped away
Leaving a void beneath these golden hours.

Asters are heavy with their purple weight
Drooping beneath the sun-imperilled air—
Birds have had warning that the hour is late,
They linger, but with little time to spare.

The poppy-vessels lift their Chinese heads
More classic in their petal-free design
Than when arrayed in crimson, pinks and reds
That veiled their forms of oriental line.

The delicate sky is redolent of rain
Though luminous with azure—clouds appear
High and transparent in their tranquil plane
Above the turmoil of our atmosphere.

September brings its message without word—
The curve of time is downward from the crest;
And still, unchanged, an ageless tone is heard
While yet the leaf falls earthward to its rest.

—DANIEL HAWTHORNE

CONSERVATORY
(Golden Gate Park)

Primordial the calm, the warm
Silence where no winds sob in grief;
Each fragrant and fantastic leaf
Seems conscious of its own still form.

A symphony in green that springs
From ebon earth in mystic sleep,
The humid casket whose depths keep
The secret of these glorious things.

Exotic blooms, divinely wrought,
Wake wonder in the human breast,
The souls of plants made manifest,
And yet each but His merest thought!

—WALDEN GARRATT

THE FENCING MATCH

En garde! The face is masked. Straightway
Fence to position, attack and parry,—
The foil of malice is quick as a word.
Manoeuver the velvet barb; be wary
Of pin politeness sharply heard.
But why such dread of each touche?
The tip is blunt.—Again begin
With glove and foil? Five touches win!

—MARGARET LEWIS ALBANESE

AUTUMN ORCHARD

A little peach, with knuckling twigs,
Is shedding down small golden money
To a nether world that toils and digs,
Paying Creation at the root
For a basketful of summer fruit.

Seniors Have a Party

Buzz Knight played host to a number of his fellow seniors from Carmel High last Saturday when he promoted an informal get-together party at his home here. Couples who participated in the fun were Howard Taggert and Luan Meatheringham, Denny Johnson and Peggy Weaver, Jim O'Dell and Susan Nutter, Dennis Gerber and Bonny Lyn Redhead, Howard Roloff and Joan Hamilton, Tony Brosnan and Gail Fisher, Dick Ledbetter and Judy Oliver, Bob Douglas and Melinda Scheffer, Bruce Langshaw and Nanda Giglio. Buzz himself squired Nancy Woliever.

Housewarming for Laiolas

Upwards of 30 well-wishers, fully stocked with dinner and libations, surprised the Bernard Laiolas with a housewarming party Saturday night. The celebration informally christened the Laiolas' new residence, Casa Querida, at the foot of San Antonio and Ninth.

Millers Back in Carmel

Cmdr. and Mrs. Ed Miller and their three daughters Carolyn, Kathy and Kristin have returned to Carmel after a two years' absence. Cmdr. Miller is back at the Naval Line School, having served two years' sea duty in the interim, the girls are back in school, and Mrs. Miller is up to her ears in Navy wives' organizations, and they're all happy to be home.

Up and About Again

Back at work in his shop this week is Harold Kneedler, who's been down for nearly three weeks from a bout with pneumonia. After a week in the hospital, Harold was transferred home to recuperate, and even managed to regain some of his patio tan before getting back on the job. He claims to be feeling fairly sound of wind and limb, though somewhat less cheeky in appearance.

Unfortunately, Harold had hardly gotten back on his feet before his assistant, Don Keith, was hit by a virus infection, and is now taking his turn at being the invalid member of the Bishop-Kneedler staff. Mrs. Kneedler and the five kids appear to be in riotously good health, however.

Mrs. Grigsby Home

Mrs. Fenton Grigsby returned home last weekend after a two and a half months' visit in the East. Following her departure in July, Mrs. Grigsby travelled through the Pacific Northwest, visiting friends in Portland and Seattle, and took time out for a stopover at Yellowstone before proceeding east. The better portion of the trip was spent with her daughter and son-in-law, Cmdr. and Mrs. F. MacKinnon Lansdowne, at their home in Newport, Rhode Island, where Cmdr. Lansdowne is on the faculty of the War College. Mrs. Grigsby concluded her stay in the East with visits in Washington, D. C., and New York City.

AAUW Membership Tea

An invitation has been extended to the university women of the Peninsula for the annual membership tea of the Monterey Peninsula Branch of the American Association of University Women tomorrow afternoon from 3:00 to 5:00 o'clock. Hostess for the day will be Mrs. Paul Messier, whose Monterey home at 1130 Alta Mesa Road will be the scene of the popular yearly event.

The tea affords the newcomer to the Peninsula an opportunity to meet other university and college women, and to become acquainted with the varied program sponsored by the local AAUW branch. During the course of the afternoon chairmen of the eight sections—Arts and Crafts, Social Studies, International Relations, Playreading and Drama, Afternoon and Evening Book, Bridge and Canasta, and Recent Graduates—will give brief resumes of what their groups have done during the past and a precis of the plans for the coming year.

All graduates from AAUW-approved colleges and universities are eligible for membership in the Monterey Peninsula Branch. Anyone wishing to check her eligibility prior to the tea should get in touch with the membership chairman, Mrs. Jack Bassford, at 7-6636, or Mrs. Douglas Martz, at 2-0408. Those who do not have transportation to the tea may call Mrs. Lloyd Miller, 7-7709.

Working with Mrs. Messier tomorrow will be the hospitality chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Hill. They will be assisted by Mrs. C. A. Beakley, Miss Joan Dirck, Mrs. Donald Dubrasich, Miss Marguerite Moore, Mrs. J. D. Phillips, Mrs. Charles Rebhun, Jr., Mrs. Ralph Young, Mrs. Melvin Reynolds, Mrs. Hugh Smith and Miss Barbara Weiss.

The membership committee consists of Mrs. J. McEldowney, Mrs. Philip Arnold, Mrs. H. M. Wright, Mrs. Norman Naas, Mrs. H. T. Stotler, Dr. Mira Gavrilovich and Mrs. Jack Radcliffe.

President of the Peninsula branch is Mrs. Gleb Drujina, who, along with the other officers for the year, will be in the receiving line at the tea.

Gamma Phis Have a Party

Members of the Monterey County Gamma Phi Beta Alumnae Club were joined by their husbands for a social meeting a week ago Sunday at the dramatic Rancho Rio Vista home of Mrs. Luke Seros. Teetotaler Lefty Sproull took over the duties of bartender, while Mrs. Jack Hurff headed the food committee which provided a buffet supper.

Among those who attended the party were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Neill, Miss Theo Winfree, Miss Ann Tredell, the Lefty Sproulls, Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Payne, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Elston. Also present were a sizeable contingent from Monterey and Salinas.

Hudsons Have a Daughter

Two weeks old today is Sally Hudson, the baby daughter born September 11 at Peninsula Community Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Thomson J. Hudson of Point Lobos. The baby has two older brothers: Tim, aged six and a half, and Dan, two and a half. Grandparents are Rear Adm. (USN-Ret.) and Mrs. L. J. Hudson of Point Lobos; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Taylor, live in San Francisco.

A Son for the Bells

Mr. and Mrs. Richard William Bell of San Pedro Lane and San Luis became the parents of a baby boy last week, born Wednesday at the Monterey Hospital. The new heir has been named William Frederick. The Bells also have a four year old daughter, Victoria Gay. Mr. Bell is a member of the faculty of the Naval Postgraduate School.

The Time Has Come .

By Kippy Stuart

A new garden book has come upon the market and after studying this book carefully, I feel that we are all in need of its wisdom. Gillespie's Garden Scrap Book is not the run of the mill book, for it is filled with humor, information, verse and photographs of Mr. Gillespie's peregrinations. I call him our Galloping Gardener, for Norvell is all over the globe bringing to us the best in gardens and horticulture from far countries.

Gillespie's Scrap Book is high in color prints and each page offers some odd and unusual suggestion. Believe it or not, Norvell suggests that we here on the Pacific coast try raising our own peanuts! Can you feature such a surprise?

"Peanuts, unusual plants, not found in all gardens, can be planted in June. They produce a mass of green clover-like leaves that offer ornamental possibilities. Put in a small planting of peanuts and experiment with them. A patch will brighten the eye."

The book contains many other usual suggestions and I, for one, am going to try peanuts next summer for ground cover, that ever-puzzling problem. We have all been bothered with earwigs but who of us has ever seen one of the critters? On page 31 of the Gillespie Scrap Book is a detailed picture of an earwig. Norvell gives a brief history of this pest.

"The earwig is an ancient pest that has been known for many centuries." He goes on to explain that maybe once, the earwig did chew the ears of human beings, but he cannot vouch for this. We do know that the earwig is the most deadly enemy of the young garden and unless we put out bait to catch these things, we can have no gardens.

The section of Gillespie's Garden Scrap Book that interests me most is his design and instructions for our winter vegetable plots. He gives names of suitable vegetables to start in September for winter maturing. He explains the method of planting bulbs, how to prune roses and when to plant bare-root roses. To my way of thinking, this new Gillespie's Garden Scrap Book is just that; an amusing, an interesting and instructing scrap book for our shelves.

Some of the wise cracks in the book:

"Definition of gardening: Man's effort to improve his lot."

"A raisin is a grape that has too many worries."

"Never plant a vegetable garden in March that will be too large for your wife to take care of in July."

All of the inserts are not wisecracks. In spots the verse rises to real heights.

"There is a healing in the garden
Where one longs for peace and pardon.
Once past the gate, no need to wait,
For God is in the garden."

While the western world is becoming conscious, as never before, of the need of sanctuary in this atomic age, it is gratifying to be associated with a nation-wide movement for the protection of birdlife and wilderness creatures. Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society is showing an inspiring film next Wednesday night at 8:00 o'clock in Sunset School Auditorium, Carmel. It will be the first of this season's popular series of Audubon Screen Tours. The color motion pictures, titled Wing Havens, will show some of America's places of refuge for birds and mammals.

The hearts and pennies and dollars of people all over the country have been given to make, and maintain, these sanctuaries. They are situated in the natural haunts of forest, swamp and meadow—where plant and flower life, as well as bird and animal life in general, is free from the fear of human destroyers.

Wing Havens is an inspiring record, made in natural colors, of wildlife sanctuaries. Alexander Sprunt, Jr., a South Carolinian member of the National Audubon Society's staff, will introduce the sequence of films. He is an entertaining narrator, as well as an active promoter of sanctuary projects. —C.B.

MPC CAMPUS NEWS

By Allene Knight

The Associated Women Students Club held its first meeting of the year last week and elected the officers to carry on the planning of the club activities for the first semester. Those elected for the Social group were President Helen Peterson, Vice President Margaret Harris, and Secretary Joan Craig. The officers for the sports group were President Allene Petty, Vice President Jane Lowrey, and Secretary Joanne Cox. The Block M also held its first meeting of the year and elected as its officers: President Jim Thompson, Vice President Gene Bailey, and Secretary Tom Hurf.

The annual Bar-b-que and dance will be put on for the students on Wednesday, September 30. The dinner consists of steaks, salad, beans, desert, etc., and is held on the football field. The dance follows in the Student Union.

Intramural softball got under way today with a practice game between the art department team and the business team. The art team won. There are eight teams altogether and they will each get a chance to play against every other team. The teams are made up of six men and four women. The games are played during the noon hour.

The MPC Lobos travel to Reedley this weekend to play their second game of the season. The first game was played at Napa, where the Lobos lost to the score of 14-13. The first home game for the team is on October 10, against Cal Poly.

Carmel Artists Win Grape-leaf Clusters

The Carmel Art Association had a visit Wednesday from Laurence Hosmer, a member of the planning committee of the Lodi Grape Festival, who was here to award trophies and ribbons to Carmel artists who entered the festival's art show last weekend.

Buck Warshawsky was presented first award in the portraits and figures division, while Arthur Hill Gilbert won a top award in the landscapes division. Other awards went to Mary Miller for her still life, and to Frank Myers for a marine painting.

In presenting the awards, Hosmer remarked, "We can always be sure of having a good show when we call on the Carmel community." Carmel artists, he continued, could be counted on to produce "top-grade" work.

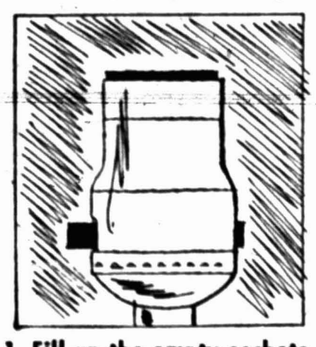
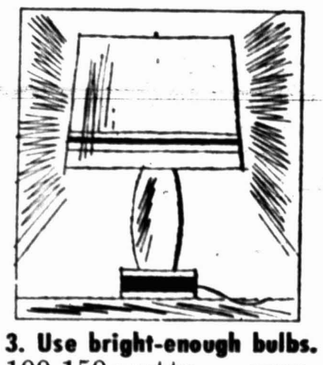
Three easy ways to better living..
with better lighting

Surveys show most homes are under-lighted! But it's easy to enjoy brighter, better living—with lighting that picks up the color of your furnishings—guards precious eyesight—perks up your spirits.



1. Fill-up the empty sockets. Good lighting is inexpensive eye-insurance, for light bulbs cost so little—and electricity is cheap in California.

2. Replace burned-out bulbs and keep a supply of spares on hand. New, smaller 150 and 100-watt bulbs now fit almost any fixture.



3. Use bright-enough bulbs. 100-150 watts . . . especially in your kitchen fixtures, study lamps, hallways, garage, and bathrooms.

Free of extra cost...a 150-watt bulb

. . . free when you buy five 100-watt bulbs! Just present the coupon sent with your September or October

P. G. and E. bill at any store displaying this sign. Treat your family to Better Light for Better Sight—today!

Electricity is cheap in California!

Pine Needles

Ireland, India and Nova Scotia

The Laidlaw Williamses had a brief hail-and-farewell visit last week from Mrs. W.'s sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Black (Mrs. Black, the former Eleanora Bosworth, used to live here). Having deposited their two children at the Ojai Valley School, the Blacks are now in San Francisco waiting to board the ten-passenger freighter which will carry them on a four-month voyage to Ireland—via China, India and the Mediterranean. (The devious round-the-world route, the Blacks discovered, costs little more than the direct trip, and allows them stopovers at ports along the way.)

The Williamses and their children Alice and Boz returned to the Highlands last month after their annual summer sojourn at Cape Breton, Nova Scotia. They had a delightful, and relatively uneventful time, according to Mrs. Williams; however, even in Nova Scotia, one runs into old Carmelites. In their case, thanks to the working of the local grapevine, the Williamses were reunited with an old Carmel friend, Sidney Robertson Cowell, now of New York. Mrs. Cowell was exploring Cape Breton collecting Gaelic folksongs for the Library of Congress, heard about the Williamses through a chatty garageman, and went out to see them. The Williamses were able to assist Mrs. Cowell in her song-gathering by taking her to a milling frolic—a traditional celebration (now somewhat altered for the benefit of tourists) during which the community participates in the singing of ancient Gaelic songs.

They also visited a "mod", an annual affair staged each year by one of the principal clans, for which the clan leader is imported from Scotland. This year, Mrs. Williams reports, it was the clan MacKinnon, and in spite of the familiar piping, sword dancing and highland-flinging, the occasion wasn't as spirited as in previous years, and the MacKinnon himself seemed rather blase about his fellow clansmen's proceedings. Even Nova Scotia is feeling the blight of too much charm.

Leonard Cosky Wed in London

Any speculation which may have accompanied Leonard Cosky when he departed by plane for England last month was resolved this week when his staff at Carmel Plumbing received a note from the boss announcing that on the ninth of this month, in London, he was married to the former Miss Maude Kathleen Broad.

The new Mrs. Cosky, a native of West Australia, journeyed to England for the coronation earlier this year and remained in London, where she was joined this month by her prospective husband. The two met in Australia a couple of years ago, when Cosky sojourned "down under" in the course of one of his periodic travels.

The couple are presently honeymooning in Paris. Sometime next month Cosky will bring his new bride home to Carmel. Anticipating her arrival here are her future in-laws: Leonard's brothers Clarence, Seth and Albert, all of Marina; his mother, Mrs. Ethel K. Cosky, and sister Mrs. William Ring, both of San Jose.

Book Review Wednesday

The feature program at Town House next week will be a review by Miss Edith Griffin of Eva Le Gallienne's book of reminiscences entitled With a Quiet Heart. The program will take place at 3:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, with a social hour and tea to follow at 4:00 o'clock.

Bert Taylor Weds Miss Timmons

At 12:30 o'clock tomorrow, in the presence of many of their local friends, Bert Taylor and Miss Joyce Timmons will exchange vows at the Church of the Wayfarer, with Dr. K. Fillmore Gray officiating.

The bride-to-be, a native of Midland, Texas, has lived on the Peninsula for nearly two years and attended Monterey Peninsula College. For her wedding tomorrow, she has chosen an oyster white ballerina length frock trimmed with teardrop pearls and a small matching hat.

Bridal attendants will be Miss Sherry Hicks, maid of honor, and Mrs. Ernest Kering, matron of honor.

Standing up with Bert will be Herb Vial, his partner in the contracting firm of Taylor and Vial. The reception following the wedding will take place in the Taylor home on Mission Street.

The couple will honeymoon in Las Vegas before returning to their Carmel residence.

Democratic Club Panel

The Age of Jackson will be the subject of a panel discussion to be held Thursday afternoon and evening. The program is third in a fall series dealing with the history and development of the Democratic Party, and is sponsored by the Carmel Women's Democratic Club. Panel members will be Mrs. Marion Chamberlain, Mrs. Perry Newberry and Mrs. Homer Martine.

The afternoon meeting will take place at 1:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. William Arley Smith; a repeat of the program, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, will be held in Sunset School Cafeteria.

Miss Marion Turner, chairman of the program, in cooperation with librarian Elizabeth Niles, has arranged for a shelf of collateral reading material pertinent to the panels at the Carmel Library which is available for further research. The meetings are open to the general public.

Garden Club for Conservation

The Monterey Peninsula Garden Club, following the action of numerous conservation groups, passed a resolution at their Friday night meeting to send petitions to the highway and state park commissions strongly recommending the preservation of the Redwood Highway as a scenic route rather than a freeway. Proposed improvements to the highway would result in the destruction of many of the venerable trees which line the route, it was pointed out.

Friday night's meeting brought an S. R. O. crowd of members and guests to the Pacific Grove Women's Club to hear a panel of experts discuss various problems and improvements in gardening and plants. Flower arrangements were judged, with first award going to Mrs. A. L. Davenport, second to Mrs. A. A. Berry, and third to the club's president, Mrs. C. C. Brockman. Door prizes were won by Mrs. Rose A. Logan and Mrs. R. E. Clifford. The club also welcomed two new members in Mrs. Harvey Thomann and Mrs. Doris Kiger.

Next regular meeting of the club will be October 16.

Birthday for Jeanie

Jeanie Fehring is eleven today, and in honor of the occasion she has asked several of her school friends to a small dinner party at her home. Jeanie's mother, Mrs. Ted Fehring, is planning the party and baking the birthday cake—birthday cakes, rather, since one of Jeanie's guests, Nicki Wilson, is also celebrating her eleventh birthday today. Also invited to the party are Francesca Farr, Kathleen Aldrich, Joy Walker, Diane Miller, Mary Buffington, Meg Seccombe, Carolyn Burde, Patricia Giarratana, Susan Fernandez and Phyllis Clayton.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

The Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Reality" to be read in all Christian Science churches Sunday, September 27, will be comprised of citations read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

One of the Bible verses will be from II Timothy: "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (2:15).

The correlative citations from Science and Health will include the following passage:

"To divest thought of false trusts and material evidences in order that the spiritual facts of being may appear,—this is the great attainment by means of which we shall sweep away the false and give place to the true" (p. 428).

Florida Vacation

Mrs. Dick Lofton and three-and-a-half year old daughter Missy flew home last weekend from Florida, where they had spent a fortnights' vacation with Mrs. Lofton's parents in Alta Monte Springs. It was Missy's first introduction to her maternal grandparents, and to air travel as well, and she cottoned to both with enthusiasm. It was also their first visit to Florida — Mrs. Lofton's parents having moved there recently from North Carolina—and much time was spent sightseeing around the lake country and the gulf coast. Before returning home, where Dick and the youngest daughter Nana Dee were doing an efficient job of batching it, Mrs. Lofton and Missy visited one of Dick's sisters in Birmingham.

Dance Troupe Visits Causerie

A program of song and dance will be presented for members and friends of La Causerie Francaise tomorrow night by the French Folklore Group from San Francisco.

Due to the special nature of this meeting of La Causerie, guests are invited to attend tomorrow evening. The program will take place in the Sunset School Cafeteria at 8:30 o'clock.

mer we have heard appeals from local people, "Can't something be done to provide a rest room at the south end of the beach where our kids play, where we have our picnics?"

Obviously a rest room at that location would benefit the tourists only incidentally. It would be primarily a convenience for the home team.

As for cost and police problem, we hope you will be with us in this column again next week.

C. A. DeCamp has written the following for this column:

Elizabeth Niles, lover of all who love books at our Carmel Public Library, reports that Pine Cone publicity has aroused a consuming interest in the fall opening of the several Great Books discussion groups now forming on the Peninsula and in Carmel, First Year Group in particular.

Those having participated in the First Year Group are signing up for the second year and so on.

First Year Group applicants not so familiar with the program should get in touch with Miss Niles and learn more of the interesting reading treat that is in store for members of these informed discussion groups that turn out every two weeks to exchange views on selected reading assignments.

As not everyone knows, courses are provided in yearly selections and there is a progressive sequence to the reading groupings that make successive years particularly more meaningful for those who have completed preceding years.

Thus, Miss Niles suggests that entering a first year group opens the door to journeyings with the world's most influential authors for years to come, and is an opportunity that should be grasped at this time.

Why not see her today?

* * *

Last week we sympathized with the after dinner beach walkers who will have to take their exercise by flashlight after Sunday midnight. Daylight saving goes off then, remember? Some may decide to walk before dinner, sacrificing the cocktail hour, but not many. Most will give up what they consider an unequal struggle with the almanac and the California legislature, put their flat-heeled shoes way back in the closet and settle down quietly to putting on weight until spring.

This is a very undesirable adjustment to the situation. Carmel has always been ingenius in working out original solutions to its problems. Does anybody have any ideas on this one?

No. No. NO. Flood lighting the beach won't do. Try again.

Attorneys for Plaintiff.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA TO:

CLEVE F. WEBSTER and PATRICIA ANN WEBSTER, DOE ONE, DOE TWO, DOE THREE, DOE FOUR and DOE FIVE, Defendants:

You are hereby directed to appear and answer the Complaint in an action entitled as above, brought against you in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Monterey, within ten days after the service on you of this Summons, if served within this County; or within thirty days if served elsewhere.

This action is brought to determine the adverse claims to and clouds upon the title to the real property described in the complaint herein and hereinafter described, by the plaintiffs who claim to be the owners of, and in possession of, said real property, which said real property is situated in the County of Monterey, State of California, and described as follows:

Lot 33, as shown on "Map of Robles Del Rio Carmelo Subdivision No. 1", filed June 6, 1927, in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Monterey, State of California, and now on file in said office in Map Book Three, Cities and Towns, at page 43 therein.

And you are hereby notified that unless you appear and answer as above required, the said Plaintiffs will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the Complaint as arising upon contract, or will apply to the Court for any other relief demanded in the Complaint.

Given under my hand and Seal of the Superior Court of the County of Monterey, State of California, this 21st day of May, A.D. 1953.

ORDINANCE NO. 164 N.S.

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING THE ERECTION AND MAINTENANCE OF TELEVISION ANTENNAE

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Licensing and Registration.

Before any person shall engage in the business of erecting and servicing television antennae in the City of Carmel, he shall first procure from said City a license so to do and pay the license tax hereby imposed on such business, and must register his full name with place of business at the office of the Building Inspector. A television erection license shall be issued by the City of Carmel on payment of an annual fee of $25.00.

Section 2. Surety Bond.

Every person, firm or corporation licensed for, or engaged in the business of erecting or servicing television antennae shall annually file with the Building Inspector a surety bond payable to the City in the penal sum of $1,000.00 guaranteeing compliance with each and every provision of this Ordinance, and payable to the City of Carmel and to any person aggrieved by any act or violation of any of the terms of this Ordinance.

Section 3. Permits.

No person, firm or corporation shall erect or service a television antenna, mast or tower, or add to or alter the mast guy lines and fastenings on an existing mast without first obtaining a permit from the Building Inspector.

Section 4. Application Data.

Application for permits shall be made upon forms provided by the Building Inspector, and shall contain and have attached thereto the following information:

a. Name, address and telephone number of the owner for whom the application is to be made.

b. Lot and block number of the building site on which installation is to be made.

c. Whether it is a new installation, repair or maintenance work.

d. A sketch or drawing of the building site and the location of the antenna mast in relationship to the property lines.

e. A statement of the height, and upon what structure the television antenna is to be installed.

f. Name and license number of the firm or person making the installation.

g. Such other information as the Building Inspector shall require to show full compliance with this and all other laws and ordinances of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Section 5. Permit Fees.

An inspection fee of $2.00 shall be paid for each permit issued except for permits issued for temporary installations. A reinspection fee of $1.00 shall be paid for each trip when extra inspections are necessary due to any of the following reasons:

a. Wrong address.

b. Work installed contrary to provisions of the Ordinance or permit.

c. Work not ready for inspection when called.

Section 6. Life of Permit.

Any permit issued hereunder shall be personal to the applicant, and if not used within thirty (30) days after the issuance of the permit, it shall become null and void.

Section 7. Notice for Inspection, and Certification of Approval.

The person to whom a permit has been granted for the installation of a television antenna shall immediately notify the Building Inspector when the work covered by the permit has been completed and is ready for final inspection. Upon such notice, the Building Inspector shall make an inspection within 48 hours. If all work complies with the provisions of the Ordinance and applications, the Building Inspector shall certify upon the permit form that the antenna is legally installed and in compliance with the Ordinances of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Section 8. Definitions.

The following definitions shall apply in the interpretations and enforcement of this Ordinance:

a. "Antenna". As used in this ordinance shall mean the outdoor portion of the receiving equipment for use for television reception.

b. "Mast". Shall mean that portion of the outside antenna system to which the antenna is attached and the support and extension required to elevate the antenna to the necessary height.

c. "Height". Shall mean the over all vertical length of the antenna system above ground.

d. "Temporary Installation". Shall mean the installation of any antenna for any period not to exceed three (3) days for the purposes of testing or demonstration.

Section 9. Location on Property.

A television antenna must be located within the set back provisions of Section 992 of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Section 10. Maximum Height.

Maximum height of a television antenna is to be such that, if pivoted about its base to a horizontal position, no portion of the antenna will then extend beyond the property lines of the building site on which it is erected, and further, that in the 50% portion of a building site facing on a public street, alley or other public way, no antenna shall exceed a vertical height of 30 feet above the natural grade of the building site, at the point of location of said antenna in the R-1 districts, or 35 feet above such grade in the C-1, C-2, and A-1 districts, unless a special permit for a greater height shall have been first obtained from the Board of Adjustments as provided for in Sections 1010, 1011, 1012 and 1013, of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Section 11. Technical Data.

All television antenna installations from and after the effective date of this Ordinance shall be made in accordance with the following rules and regulations:

a. Mast and Antennae shall be of non-combustible and corrosion resistant materials.

b. Antenna systems shall not interfere with fire department operations.

c. Chimneys or trees shall not be used for a mast support.

d. Mast and antennae shall not be fastened directly to the roof or supported by combustible members or materials, but shall be mounted on its own platform or plates which shall be securely fastened to structural members or rafters of the roof.

e. Every antenna must be adequately grounded for protection against a direct stroke of lightning with adequate ground wire.

f. Anchor points for antennae, masts, and guy wires must be of anchor bolts secured in approved malleable iron interlocking expansion shields, or lag bolts in malleable iron expansion shields.

g. Antennae shall be designed and installed to withstand a wind pressure of 10 pounds per square foot, and in no case shall guy wires be less than 3/32 inch five (5) strand cable, or equivalent, galvanized.

h. Rawl plugs are approved only for supporting transmission lines, and shall not be used for guy wires or for mounting brackets.

i. A safety wire shall be attached to the cross arm of the antenna so that the antenna will be held if it collapses.

j. Lead ins shall be separated by at least two (2) feet from power lines with potentials up to 250 volts, 10 feet from line with potentials in excess of 250 volts.

k. All antennae, except those of approved self-supporting type, shall be guyed with insets of 4 guy wires at each 10 foot level of the masts. The angle of the guy wire with the masts shall be not less than 30°.

l. Clamps used for grounding shall be of the "approved" type.

m. Attachment of any part of the antenna system to light, power, or communication structure or poles shall be prohibited.

n. Antennae shall not be attached to, supported by, or guyed from vent pipes.

o. An antenna system shall have a full clearance of 8 feet from other antennae on flat roofs.

p. The location of the antenna system shall be such that sagging, swinging, or collapse of the antenna or mast will not result in contact with light, power or communication lines.

q. The materials entering into the construction of the antenna system shall be of a quality that meets the standards of recognized testing laboratories such as the Underwriter's Laboratories.

r. Lead in wiires concealed in partitions and inaccessible spaces must be protected by approved covering or standoff insulator.

s. Grounding shall be to the water supply piping system, or to a grounding rod driven to a minimum of five (5) foot depth.

t. Antenna systems of a design that some portions are not integrally grounded shall have a lightning arrestor in the lead in at the point of attachment to mast with the arrestor grounded to the mast. Such lightning arrestors shall be of types approved by the Underwriter's Laboratories.

Section 12. Demonstration and Testing Antennae.

The provisions of this Ordinance requiring a permit shall not be applicable to antenna systems installed for demonstration or testing purposes where such installation does not exceed three (3) days. Provided, however, that before any such demonstration or testing antenna installation is made, notification must be given the Building Inspector, and approval made by him of such installation. Approval by the Building Inspector of such temporary installation shall not relieve the installer or owner of liability under the surety bond for compliance with this Ordinance.

Section 13. Repairs.

Minor repairs to antenna elements may be made without a permit.

Section 14. Application to Existing Antennae.

Every television antenna erected prior to the effective date of this Ordinance may be maintained and operated in its present location unless said antenna is so constructed and maintained as to be unsafe and dangerous as determined by the Building Inspector.

Section 15. Prohibiting Certain Installations in Automobiles.

It shall be unlawful for any person to install a television set forward of, or which is visible from, the front seats of a motor operated vehicle, otherwise the provisions of the Ordinance shall not apply to automobiles.

Section 16. Right of Reinspection and to Require Alterations.

Nothing herein contained, nor the fact that any person has heretofore obtained a certificate of approval shall be construed to prevent the City through its duly authorized inspector from inspecting any antenna system in use in the City, in order to ascertain whether or not the same continues to remain in a safe condition, and in compliance with the terms of this Ordinance. In case any condition is found which might result in danger to life or property, the Building Inspector shall give written notice to the owner or operator of such antenna at his last known address stating such conditions, and notifying him that the same be corrected within 10 days after such notice. If such conditions are not corrected within such time, the maintenance and use of such defective installation by the owner and user thereof shall be unlawful.

Section 17. Penalty.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine not exceeding $300.00 or by imprisonment in the City Jail or the County Jail of Monterey County for a period of not to exceed ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment; and every day during any portion of which any of the provisions of this Code shall be violated, or during which there shall be a failure, neglect or refusal to comply with any of said provisions, shall constitute a separate misdemeanor, and shall be punishable as herein provided.

Section 18. Validity.

If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is for any reason held by a Court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance. The City Council hereby declares that it would have passed this Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause and phrase hereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

Section 19. Effective Date.

This Ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public safety, and shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts showing its urgency:

"The season of high winds is approaching, during which season such high winds have a tendency to blow down television antennae with the attendant danger to the public safety. To protect the lives and property of the citizens of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, safety regulations governing the erection of antennae should be adopted immediately."

Section 20.

That all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance be, and they are hereby, repealed.

Section 21.

That the City Clerk of said City is hereby instructed to cause this ordinance to be published once in the CARMEL PINE CONE, the official newspaper of said City, within fifteen (15) days after its final passage and approval.

CERTIFICATION OF CITY CLERK

I, the undersigned, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 164 N.S. which was given its first reading at a Regular Meeting of the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea held on the 10th day of September, 1953, and finally adopted at an Adjourned Meeting of the said Council on the 23rd day of September, 1953.

I further certify that upon its passage the foregoing Ordinance was signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof.

DATED this 24th day of September, 1953.

PETER MAWDSLEY,
City Clerk

NOTICE FOR BIDS

Specifications for Re-Roofing the Inner "Flagpole" Court Facing South at Sunset School for The Carmel Unified School District.

Remove all present cement tile, roofing, felt, nails and wire from the inner court surface.

Prepare the roof deck to receive the new roofing as follows:

Remove and replace any warped or rotted sheathing and make deck level.

Pull out any protruding nails and re-nail firmly at new nail location.

Cover all large cracks, knot holes, loose knots or pitchy knots with sheet metal securely nailed to the sheathing.

Caution and care shall be exercised so as to protect the present valley from damage as the present valleys are not to be removed and will be re-used.

Caution and care shall be exercised to protect the present gutters. These may be removed and replaced at the option of the roofing contractor if, by so doing, it expedites the work.

Caution and care shall be exercised in the removal of the present ridge as this will be replaced if salvageable. If not, a new ridge of similar tile shall be replaced.

Proceed with re-roofing by laying one layer of 15# Celotex-El Rey or approved equal, 15# asphalt felt spot nailed or tacked to the sheathing.

Starter strips shall consist of one layer of strip shingle laid with cutouts reversed, or one 12" wide strip of mineral surface roll roofing. Starter strips shall project a full ½" beyond the eave line to form a drip and shall be secured in place with a row of nails 1½" above the outer edge spaced 4" on center.

Proceed with Celotex-El Rey or approved equal 215# Thick Butt shingles (color to be selected and approved).

The first course of shingles to be laid directly on top of the starter strip flush with the drip projector and proceed as per manufacturers directions, using 4-1¼" galvanized roof nails per shingle.

At the valleys, roofing is to be held back 3" from the crimp and nailed at the edge of the valley metal. The upper corner of each shingle is to be clipped or cut to form a natural drip edge, to prevent water from penetrating between the courses. The roofing material is to be cemented to the valley metal with asphalt plastic cement to make it water tight.

The present ridge shall be replaced or renewed and grouted to make secure and water tight.

The gutters are to be cleaned and made water tight at all joints by caulking on the inside with plastic cement.

The work shall be continuous from start to finish and shall be done only during favorable weather conditions as required for proper application of roofing and to insure protection to the building interior and contents against leaks in the event of rains.

Due care and caution shall be exercised to protect the children, buildings, and shrubs against injury and damage.

The roofing contractor is to furnish the Carmel Unified School District a two year written guarantee against leaks and unsatisfactory workmanship.

ALTERNATE

As an alternate bid, substitute asbestos shingles, Johns-Manville American Colonial type or approved equal, 300# thickness 5/32" approximately, color to be selected and approved.

BIDS

Sealed bids are to be submitted to the Superintendent of Schools at his office at Carmel High School on or before October 5, 5:00 p.m., at which time and place bids will be opened by the Board.

now named Uranienborg; this has the tiny pill-box house on the summit, a little six-cornered observatory, mentioned when the town was entered. This is called Kikkerthuset, "The Telescope House" which was built in 1843. It is said that the first thing the citizens of Mandal have done for the past hundred years and still do every morning, is to look out their windows and see if the weathervane on Kikkerthuset indicates good weather.

Chest Drive Starts In Carmel Monday Ahead Of Schedule

Carmel beats the gun in the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest campaign this year by starting out Monday. The nominal opening date is Thursday, October 1; but Co-ordinator Ashton Stanley's chairmen, captains and teams of volunteer workers are so well organized, they feel that the campaign will be over so much the sooner by starting early.

At last Tuesday's final organization meeting, with Gen. Frank Culin in attendance as president, reports were in of $1,470 already contributed in Carmel's orbit. Mrs. Richard Osborne reported an encouraging preliminary response from Pebble Beach. Gen. William Ryan told of Del Monte Forest's readiness, and the other adjacent districts had good news of similar preparedness.

George V. Yates, Enos Fouratt and William Hillborg have front line teams lined up for Carmel's business, hotel and motel contributions. Mrs. G. W. C. Whiting and Mrs. E. P. McMurtry have recruited an equally complete organization of volunteers for the residential areas.

The goal for this year's Monterey Peninsula Community Chest is $82,157. Carmel has never been backward in the spirit of neighborly aid to good living. So there is readiness for the opening of the Red Feather campaign Monday, September 28.

Maps Available From Coast Guard Of Off Shore Danger Zones

Pleasure boaters and fishermen operating on the Monterey Bay are reminded again of the danger zone off the Ford Ord shoreline.

Firing of weapons on the ranges bordering the shore continues almost constantly from dawn to midnight Mondays through Fridays, and from dawn to dusk on Saturdays and Sundays.

Copies of a map indicating the danger zone are available at the Monterey Coast Guard. The area ordinarily extends 5000 yards from the shoreline, although occasionally, when special notice is given, the danger area may be extended to 8000 yards.
